

PROVING MY INNOCENCE DOCUMENT

written by rey.#3204

Some of you may know acelesteq from the group Bloxton Hotels, at the last Bloxton karaoke she hosted, I decided to DM her as a joke, asking to shout out me. She then immediately thought I was on an alt account, which was false information. As I had a friend screen sharing for me.

As you can see, this is where the drama begins

I was in a group chat, which had a couple people from Bloxton. A couple minutes into the karaoke night, we asked one of our friends, when it was his turn, to shout out the group chat. After he had done it, she proceeded to dm me asking who was in there.

im actually curious

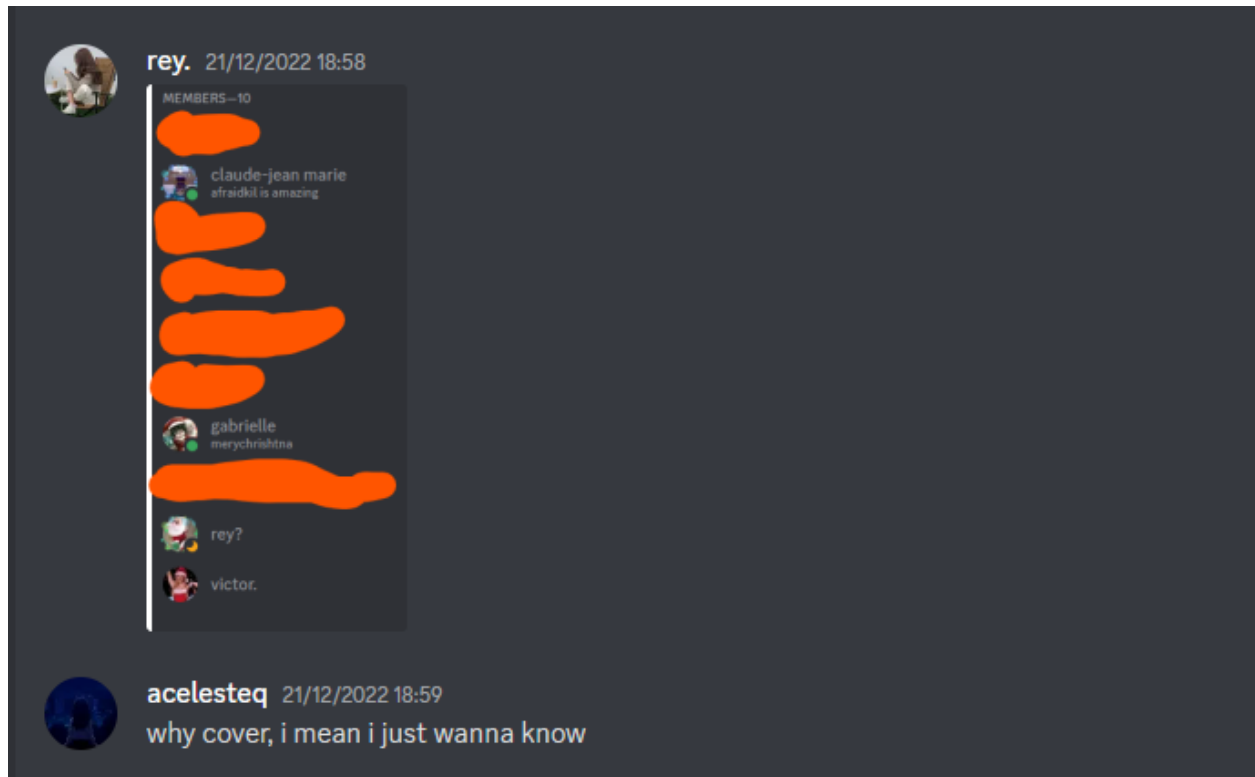

lol

As I asked her why, she immediately thought the person that did shout out to us was streaming for us. She continued to DM me asking who was in that group chat during the whole event. When I finally gave in and told her, she started dming the person sharing the event to me. She then started to threaten him saying that if he does not reveal his account, that she would permanently blacklist him.

While all of that was happening, she also DMed me saying:

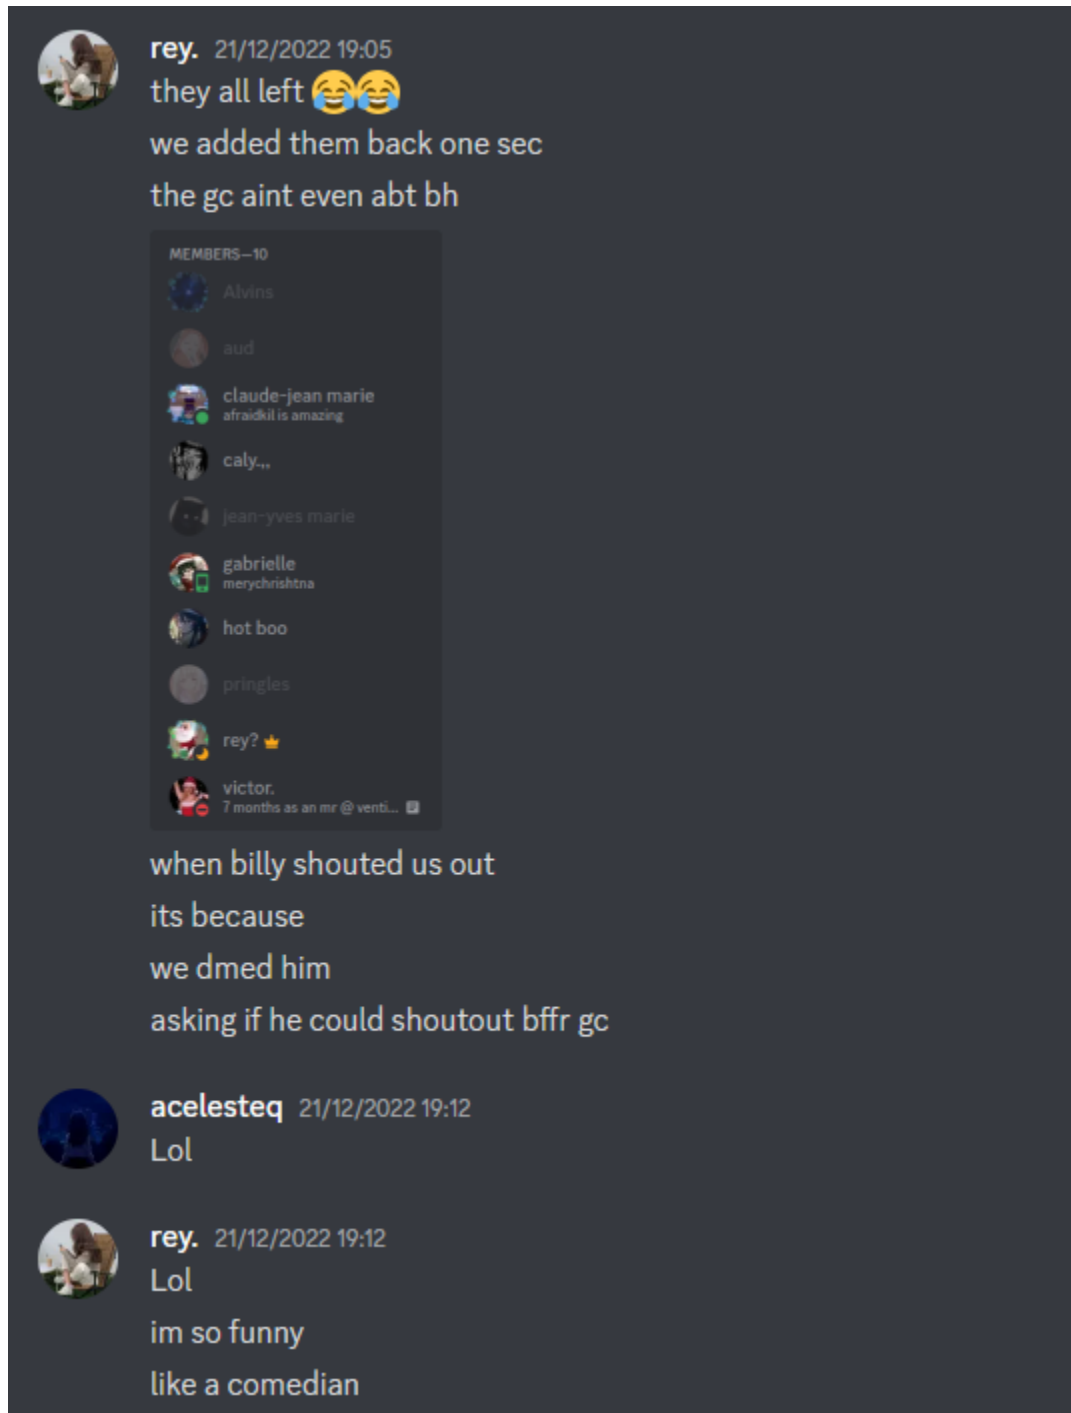

I asked the members of the GC asking if they mind if I showed ace who was in there, some of them refused, so I decided to blur out their usernames.

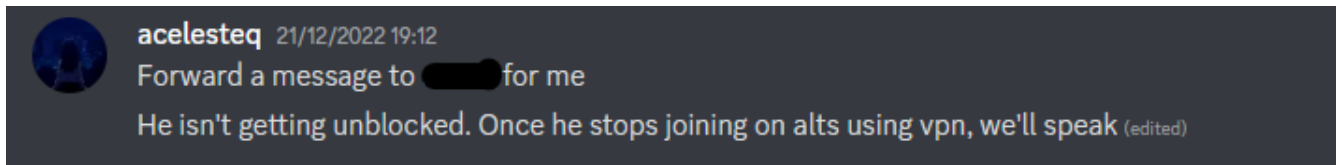

She then continued begging for me to show her for the next minutes.

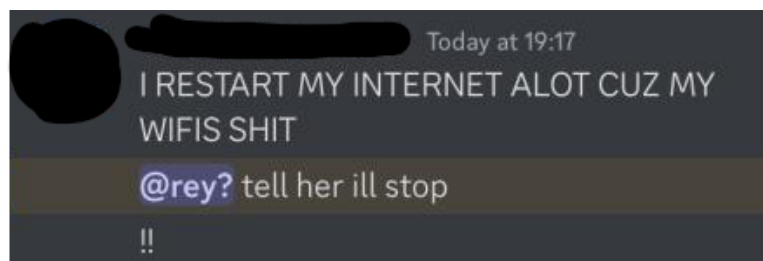

Since they did not want any trouble, I told her that they all left it, but she did not believe it. I then decided to make a fake group chat with some of my alt accounts and friends that she does not know about.

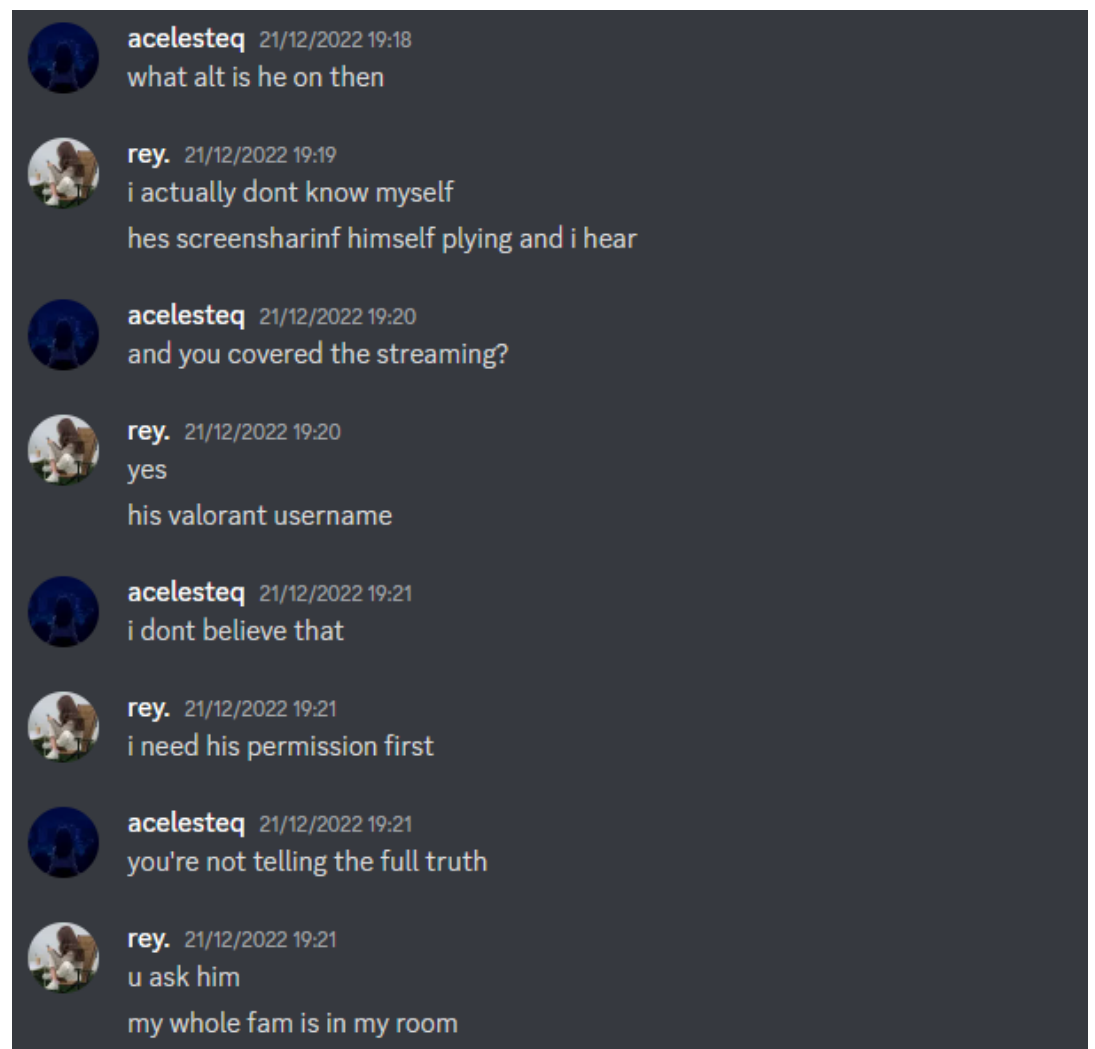

After all this happened, she blocked my friend, which was streaming to me. Ace then proceeded to DM me saying:

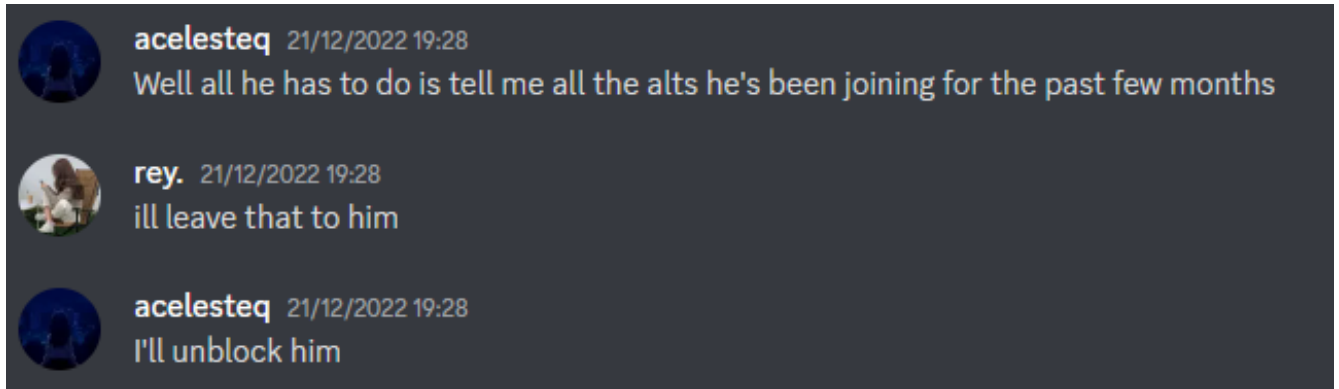

After that, he dmed me saying that he would stop. When I sent the following screenshot to her

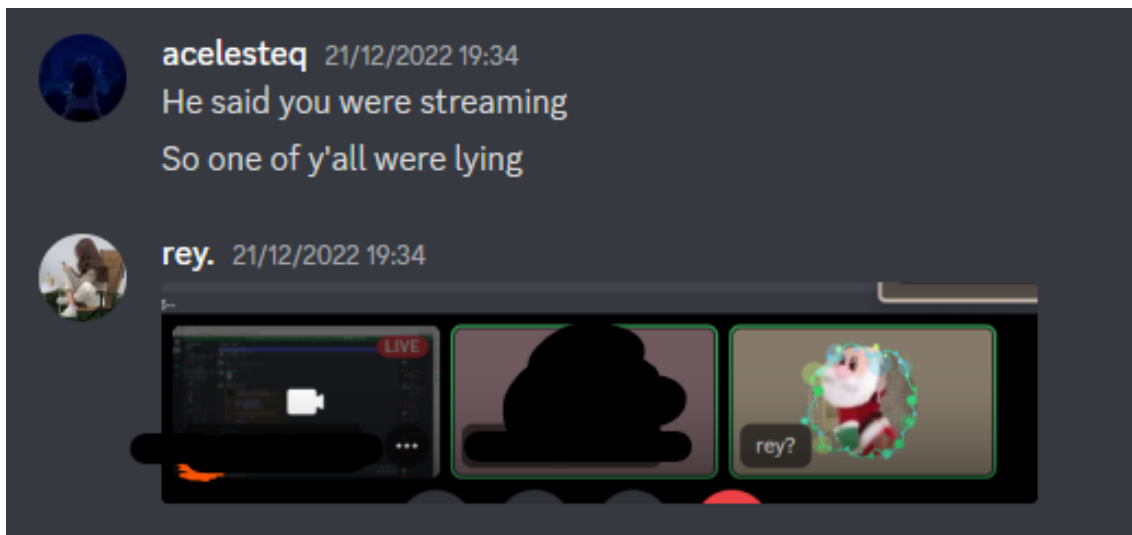

She did not believe it and said:

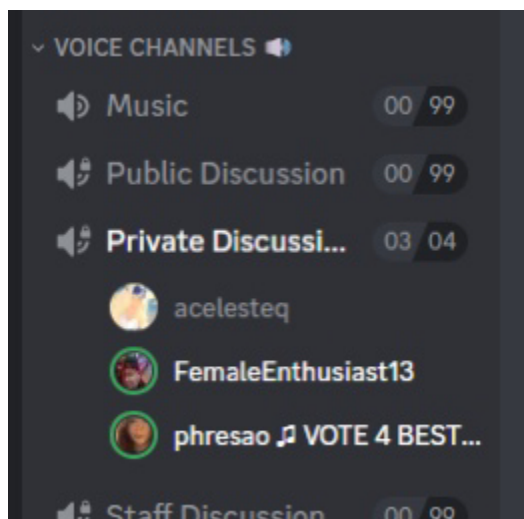

After all of this happened, she told me that she wanted to know what alt he was on, once again. I said that I would leave that to him.

He then told her that I was the one streaming, trying to get out of trouble, I then showed her genuine proof of him clearly streaming to me. She then blocked me a couple minutes later

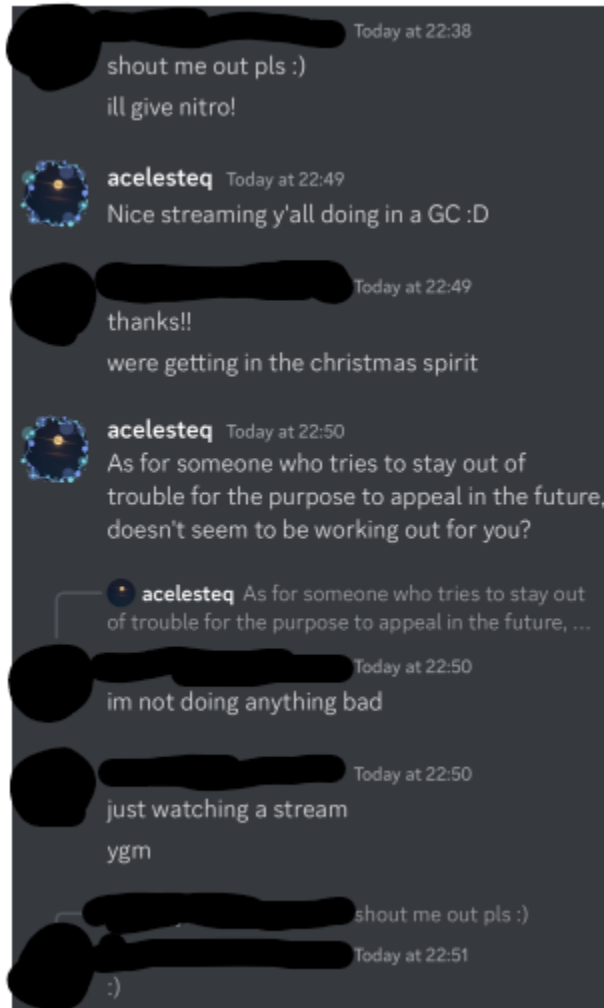

A couple weeks later, I got an MR position somewhere. I was talking to one of my friends about what happened and then he pinged her in the community chat. She then joined the voice channel I was in, claiming that me and my friend (which was the one streaming) were harassing her. As you can see in each one of the past screenshots, I never intended to harass her.

A couple days later, I was banned from the Delights discord server, with the reason of “harassment” I appealed but I was told by someone that SHE declined it for reasons I was never told.

Additional proof against her:

Now the delights part, I have appealed but it was declined for reasons I apparently know. One of the SHRs completely ghosted me, the owner ghosted me as well and the HR I appealed to would not give me more information.
